This report describes changes to the Fund that occurred either during or after the reporting period.

What were the Fund costs for the past year?

The table explains the costs you would have paid within the reporting period based on a hypothetical $10,000 investment.

CLASS NAME	COSTS OF A $10,000 INVESTMENT	COSTS PAID AS A % OF A $10,000 INVESTMENT
Class A	$44	0.42%

The manager has contractually committed to waive fees and/or reimburse certain expenses to the extent necessary to cap the Fund's total annual fund operating expense ratio at a specific amount. Without this cap, the costs shown above may have been higher. Please see the prospectus for the amount and the expiration date of the cap. Prior to or after the commitment expiration date, the cap may be increased or the commitment to maintain the cap may be terminated only with the approval of the Board of Trustees.

How did the Fund perform last year and what affected its performance?

Over the 12-month period, U.S. large-cap equities performed positively, outperforming both U.S. small caps and international developed markets.

Changes to the portfolio during the period were minimal. The objective of the Fund is to replicate the performance of the S&P 500 Index before fees. The portfolio management team uses an investment process designed with the goal of controlling trading and implementation costs and reducing tracking error as much as possible.

Materials and health care produced the lowest returns in the S&P 500 Index. Materials struggled throughout the period due to higher borrowing costs, while most recently, the potential for tariffs has led to a rise in input costs. Health care struggled to meaningfully participate as life sciences tools and services as well as pharmaceuticals regressed in performance.

Utilities and financials were the highest-performing sectors in the index over the 12-month period. Utilities were fueled by growing energy demand and increased earnings expectations. Financials benefited from a higher interest rate environment.
